

Here are some pictures taken with the Teslong borescope of a German MK V 300WBY.

First three are with straight camera, starting at the lugs and moving forward

Secon set of three is with sideview mirror again starting with lugs

You can see the similarities, and I promise, what you see in thrid picture is NOT someype of casing or liner. That is part of the chamber. It also shows the headspcing for the belt.
